
No mesid for new posts? Possible conversion error?

Posted by Lowkey - 2007/05/16 23:02

I have installed Fireboard and attempted to upgrade from joomlaboard 1.1.4, with some degree of success. I suspect that something in the process has gone wrong though. Every time someone writes in a thread, all posts that has been submitted since I changed to Fireboard, are shown in the thread only with the username changed to submitter's.

All these phantom posts has #0 and do not count towards the number of posts in a thread, nor do they show up in "last posts".

It is very annoying, as well as pretty confusing for the users.

Update:

I've been looking at the tables in the database, specifically jos_fb_messages_text and I discovered that none of the new posts had any mesid.

In the jos_fb_messages, the id for each of the new mesages are also 0.

This is undoubtedly what causes the error, but how do I go about fixing it?

I'm using Fireboard 1.0.1 build 1.
