
last subjects appearance problems

Posted by Deeter - 2007/04/21 20:45

<http://www.shindoryu.com>

the last subjects module is far more indented than the others.
how to fix?

=====

Re:last subjects appearance problems

Posted by greatpixels - 2007/04/21 23:34

Try this.

Add your class on your template css file.

```
table.moduletable ul ,
table.moduletable li {
margin:0;
padding:0;
}
```

=====

Re:last subjects appearance problems

Posted by Deeter - 2007/04/21 23:57

thanks!

=====

Re:last subjects appearance problems

Posted by gene - 2007/04/24 18:44

Also... some other notes in regards to how the last threads are displayed. If you notice, the username and topic title are all dumped into one URL which is then outputted by the Last Subjects module. I was able to 'hack' the module code to get these two items into their own divs for css-styling purposes. Is it possible to also note this for upcoming versions of this module?

=====

Re:last subjects appearance problems

Posted by ddayn - 2008/01/14 18:01

greatpixels wrote:

Try this.

Add your class on your template css file.

```
table.moduletable ul ,
table.moduletable li {
margin:0;
padding:0;
}
```

hi

i still have the same problem . see here <http://femmesdetunisie.com/index.php>
just beside the slide show.

i add your class in my css file(css file off the joomla template) ,but without effect.
can you tell me plz witch css file i must modify?

