

---

Unread Post Icon is a Fireboard Icon?

Posted by Tearstone - 2007/08/16 16:07

---

I have one forum that has a Fireboard icon on it, and I'm not sure why. See below where the "General Discussion" forum has a Fireboard icon instead of a Read/Unread topic icon.

<http://tearstone.com/russ/wtf.png>

=====

Re:Unread Post Icon is a Fireboard Icon?

Posted by Tearstone - 2007/08/17 15:36

---

Bump! I'm really baffled by this, anyone have any ideas at all?

=====

Re:Unread Post Icon is a Fireboard Icon?

Posted by briananderson - 2007/09/12 07:40

---

I cant remember this for sure, but I had this problem a while back. I think it has something to do with the ID # of the board, and the graphic icon on your webserver. You are able to do customize all your icons for each folder as long as they have the same file name as the id # of the board.

I'm not sure where these images are stored at...

=====

Re:Unread Post Icon is a Fireboard Icon?

Posted by quodo - 2008/03/14 18:19

---

This happened on my site when I changed a "top" forum into a "child" forum. E.g. in tearstone's image if you move "General forums" to be a child of "Technical forums". I just removed the one with the fireboard logo and made a new forum (as it was empty anyway).

=====