Just noticed that posts submitted in the child boards are not listed following the Show Latest Posts link in FB menu or header.

Grrr, is there a chance that bugs are going to be fixed someday? Some are very annoying, reported a while before and nothing happens in SVN. There a day not even one file has been changed in the repository.

Of course the developers are busy elsewhere, too, however I've asked one of them what IDE and local installation he uses to test and write programs for FB, just out of curiosity and perhaps to support one day (though I'm not a PHP programmer but more an Object Pascal one which knows SQL statements very well), but no reply so far. So I guess they need no help at all.

IMO, the whole project has stuck and nothing great happens here. We are reporting bugs and bugs and more still receive no answer they got fixed or confirmed.

Currently I'm evaluating SMF, too. It's a bit more time-consuming to administer but worth it. I don't care if SMF does fit perfectly into my Joomla installation or not. Would be fine though.

Although there is no documentation to write mods or comps, at least I've not found any so far.

Just my 2ct.

Never mind, Roaster. Only a few days are back from summer. We require the wonder rapidly, skipping the years spent for development of the other forums. B) I am sure the BOJ team will do everything their best shortly. Their responses would be really excellent - the squeak wheel gets the grease. :fbbigsml:
