As long as its nothing along the lines of that unholy shitfight that was the 1.0.0 to 1.0.1 mess. Re-assure me that I'm not going to have to run up local servers/databses and all that crap?

I am happy for BOTH.

Actually, if the Admin or Developer tells me that I can't upgrade from 1.0.0 to 1.0.3.

and I will loose all the posts, threads, groups, categories... everything..... even in that case I wont be 'unhappy'.

FB was love at 1st sight :kiss: I install 1.0.0 on the production site without any care.

At that time, I didn't know that there was a upgrade procedure from JB to FB.

So, I deleted everything of JB and lost everything and got FB.

So, even if history repeate itself, I wont care.... :blush: :kiss:

See, I DO care ;) So do the many posters on the 3 forums I've deployed so far using 1.0.0 and the posters on the two 1.0.1 forums ;)

Maybe you can explain to those posters how you deployed a beta forum on a production site when specifically advised NOT to. If any thing goes awry it's basically your fault.
