The latest modules are very frustrating.

They either don't have many settings (like posted date) or don't restrict latest posts to the users access level.

This is the one I've liked the best so far. It also provides support for CB avatars and seems pretty fast in comparison to some of the other modules out there.

Hope that helps.

Where has this module been hiding.

The others modules don't compare to this one.

Does everything I want.

The developer just confirmed he is working on v5 and will submit it to BoJ when done.

Look for a language file if there is one.

There's no language file...

This is a nice module, but the 'show avatar' option does not actually work for me. Otherwise, great module.

Then code parts will have to be translated.

Maybe you need to contact the developer.

Can anyone send me the wastedzombie mod, because I signed up for his site but it hasn't sent me an e-mail yet?

Does anyone know why this module gives me interal errors? Is it because I have different thread emotion icons than the default?

Re:Best \"latest module\" for the fireboard?

Posted by grumblemarc - 2007/10/31 20:51

What errors?

Re:Best \"latest module\" for the fireboard?

Posted by indianajosh - 2007/11/01 00:18

On any page that I have the module on I get a 500 Internal Server Error.

It was suggested to me that perhaps you need to allot PHP more memory. If you can access your php.ini file you can change it there.

Posted by WastedZombie - 2007/11/11 02:17

Hmm... I haven't been told about the 500 error before reading it here. Perhaps if you could tell me more? :unsure:

Oh, and for the guy who never got an eMail, I had it resend all pending validations... so hopefully you got that? :unsure:

And to the person who asked about changing languages, you can change almost everything in the new module. I however didn't think about Days and Months... so I will make this editable in the next version. ;)

This project is alive and well, and Fireboards ongoing activity, and your concern for a top quality module is what is keeping me going! :)

I've just released version 4.3 which you can get off my site. I've included it here in the files area, and hopefully the Ops will make it available soon. :P

Here is what is new in version 4.3:

- * Set Page Limit, works with Fireboard only. This is a needed update for Fireboard 1.0.3's new pagination.
- * Replace all words with anything. Use different languages, symbols, etc.
- * Optional alternative date display function. Displays days since the messages were last written, along with TODAY & YESTERDAY tags.
- * Optionally show which forum the message is in, and optionally allow for linking to the forum.
- * Optionally show a graphic representation for a new topic. Set the date from Today only, or all the way up to 2 weeks for the topic to be considered new. You can supply your own custom graphic or use the default one.
- * Optionally show a graphic representation for a new message since the members last visit. You can supply your own custom graphic or use the default one.
- * Members avatar will now show at X max size. Where X is height or width, whichever is the largest.
- * Optional links to Show Latest with hour intervals that you provide.
- * Allow word wrap option on topic.
- * Optional Java Mouse Over Popup. Displays the entire topic name regardless of what you have it set to, and shows the first X characters from the message. You can set X to be any amount you want. You even have control over the position in relation to the mouse that the Popup appears. The Java Mouse Over Popup will only work for those that have Community Builder installed on their site.

The following is new and should work, but I didn't test it:

- * Simpleboard, Joomlaboard and Fireboard support for internal Avatar display.

Here is what has been fixed:

- * If you turn off the Bullets, and now the New Topic Icons and New Message Icons, the program will no longer still provide an empty area on the left side of the module. That area will go away, allowing you more room.
- * Unpublished Forums with new messages will no longer show up in the display. (Example: GroupJive)
- * Columns are now evenly spaced and a fixed size, should be easier to work with.

I'm already working towards the next version and in my forums you can sign up to be a tester for the module... I'm only excepting so many applicants... I would like FireBoard user with or without Community Builder installed, and Fireboard users with or without GroupJive installed. I need a good mix.

I've worked out a much better way of retrieving the information from the databases, and I'm working on making it completely display in CSS rather than in Tables.

I don't know what else I can tell you. :(Any page that displays the module comes up as an immediate 500 internal error. I have a regular Fireboard installation, other than the fact that I have about 50 thread emotion icons added.

Re:Best

Posted by grmi64 - 2007/11/14 19:33

It's been working for me. I'd like the option to display the latest new posts (instead of the latest post just from each topic area) - however, it seems to work well...the community builder integration seems good and it appears to work with groupjive.

Okay, its been awhile like over 60 days I think... but I'm coming close to a point a need a few people that would like to help me beta test v5 of my UFTT module. I decided to scrap the original program and completely have re-written the module. So currently there are some nice new little features, while some older ones are absent. I'd like to include as many of these back into the program as I can, plus I'm totally open to your suggestions.

If you'd like to be a beta tester, please reply to the message or contact me www.wastedzombie.com

I don't mind helping beta test. Could you just post the file here on BOJ?

Also, how do you send an e-mail to all pending validations? :)

One more thing,

This is my favorite latest post. It is from the JoomlaBoard. I wonder if anyone could tweak it to work for FB?

I'm getting similar messages, running the same setup...

j1.5.3
fb1.0.4

But I'm running on a Linux box.

Here's the errors that are displaying in the module:

Does this mod work with j1.5?
