
user groups

Posted by dwarfenhelm - 2007/10/25 11:08

i am new to this type of forum having used phpbb2 for years.

my new website has fire board installed and set up as standard so all we need to do is register and we are able to use basic parts of the forum.

the problem i have is only myself and the other site admin have access to the full forum, and i cant see how to set guild members into user groups that give them access to certain parts of the forum with out making them managers or admins to the web site which isnt a good idea.

ive prob missed simple info some place but would be grateful if someone could point me in the right direction.

=====