Yes - Red Evolution makes some very nice free templates. I've been using their blue flex template as a base for my site for over a year <http://www.mullismelange.com>.

They are friendly folks as well. I am always excited when they come out with new templates, but I have stuck with the same one for a year since I have tweaked it to my liking. Kudos to another quality template.

Maybe it's interesting for someone out there. I have published a slightly modified version of this template which fixes some smaller design problems:

1. In some cases (e.G. if you use a slideshow) the top module can make your site look strange on older browsers.
2. The text input box (tested with JCE editor) is very large and the text appears centered.
3. If you use images on your site (e.G. the Pony or PonyML gallery) and you show your images in a light box, the search box of the template is still in foreground.
4. The template uses red bullets for list items. These bullets look strange if you are using the Fireboard Numinu template. So the bullets are disabled. If you want to see the standard bullets, open the attached orange.css and look at line 36 for this entry:

/background:url(../images/orange/bullet.png) no-repeat;/
```

Disable the comment markers "/" and "/" at the beginning and at the end of this line.

You can find it in the download section of my site:
<http://www.pixelwonders.de>

Cheers
Ralf

If you are using this template with the fireboard Numinu template, your template footer maybe looks strange at the bottom of the forum.

To fix this go to:
components\com_fireboard\template\numinu\
and open the:
footer.html

Delete or comment out line 4 - this is the line with only the entry.

Now anything with the footer should look fine.

Ralf

Changing welcome to the frontpage

Posted by pharaoh - 2008/01/21 04:56

Hello all,

I like this template and I am using it for my site.
I'd like to change the "Welcome to the frontpage" greeting in the browser title bar and on the frontpage.

How do I do it?

:unsure:

The "read all" link doesn't appear...
Maybe it's a bug?!
