JAwards Enhancement

This topic was moved I don't know why, as I was not wishing for anyone to complete this for me, it was in progress as it was in the design and idea stages, anyway its came a long way and below is the original idea I had for it, it really is awesome.

***Begin Edit***

Thank you for alerting us to the pending completion of what looks to be a fantastic add-on for Fireboard. If possible please provide a link to the developers website once the product becomes available for beta-testing or download.

So are you actually working on this or is it just a feature you would like to see implemented? I ask because you say, and have said that you are not developing this. If you are not then this is not the forum for this.

so is it complete now and ready to install or still in development?
is it an extension to the existing com_jawards or another extension for fireboard only?
thanks for some more info!
I am really excited about this as well.

yes thanks, but i have jawards already installed. do i need to deinstall and reinstall this version? and how about community uilder integration. does it still work with this version?
and will my data be kept from old jawards installation?
or am i on the wrong track?

It works with CB as a user will get an award and points for adding a connection, a PM is also sent, to let the user know, Yes I believe you could keep you data from your old Jawards, you would have to deinstall too, I think it would paid feature only to recuperate costs, then it would become free, but that depends on the interest, does'nt seem like theres much at the moement, sorry about the slow reply and spelling mistakes, iv been up for nearly 24 hours now :blink:

So if this will be a paid feature then you're advertising using the forums then?

Thanks for your interest in jAwards, I really appreciate it - I am the developer of the component.

Since jAwards is licensed under Gnu-GPL and you seem to have derived a component based on it, you need to publish the source of your component, as equired by the license.
