
Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by Hazzaa - 2008/02/01 23:50

The original Numinu Template has Gone LONG enough and there is NO way in the world to keep up with this nor is anyone going to read all fifty + pages to find their issues.

MG (grumblemarc) was to start a new thread but as of yet I have not seen it.

Here is a link to the original Numinu Post:

http://www.bestofjoomla.com/component/option,com_fireboard/Itemid,38/func,view/id,33218/catid,8/

And I hope GM will update this front page as he did for the previous thread

Edit. I'll carry this over to here.

No Vcard

For anyone NOT wanting the Vcard and would rather have it display in the default fashion, simply take the message.php from the default template and replace the message.php in the Numinu template.

Thanks Buddy

With the new version coming out by next Monday I think it appropriate to start this now.

I vote to call the new version Numinu-Rejuvenated considering much of the work is being done by rejuvnet. I think it has a Very nice ring to it as well as appropriate for the work as well as the worker.

Awww, shucks - thanks. ;) I just hope I can get out my front door now with this swelled ego. LOL

I'm planning on having a version done and uploaded over the weekend - latest Monday as mentioned by Hazzaa - that will be pretty much like the version currently used on my site. I am also going to be putting in some extra time to make sure the forum.css file is "better commented" as it can get confusing after a while trying to sort out what sections manage certain areas of the forum (for example, there are two different "show categories" sections, each with a different purpose)...

So - with that said, it's hoped that the "beta" version will not only address the various issues that have arisen in 50-plus pages, but it will be easier to modify and manipulate right from the start so that it can fit in with ANY template color, layout, or scheme.

Wish me luck! :side:

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by rejuvnet - 2008/02/02 00:09

Oh - I should also mention that this "beta" also has the latest jQuery files included as well, so that conflict with MooTools is an issue that will not be a factor anymore, right out of the gate. This should solve a lot of the problems for you RT and YooTheme users. ;)

Posted by Hazzaa - 2008/02/02 00:23

You are the man !!!

We'll get this to a stable version yet.

As a final thought, you may want two versions, one with the tables and another without. I personally prefer the tables but I'm sure after you do all the work to add them, someone (GRRR) will come along and say,

HOW DO YOU.....???? I have tried EVERYTHING AND BEEN SEARCHING FOR TEN YEARS AND CAN'T FIND HOW YOU

And then they make a face like this ---> :angry:

Go figure :laugh: :laugh: :laugh:

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by rejuvnet - 2008/02/02 01:48

Ohhhhhhh - the PRESSURE!!! The PRESSURE!!! My brain hurts!!!! LOL

I'd started this thing with divs only, but it wound up being a VERY long exercise in futility (at the time) which is why I opted to table it for now. I will eventually get a tableless version done, but that's a "spare time" thing (something that I don't have very much of these days, unfortunately).

Maybe after I get the beta released someone will pick up the reins and do a tableless version, but it's doing wonders for the time being and I ain't gonna fix what ain't broke yet. LOL

I'm doing everything I can to make as many people happy with what I'm going to release - if people aren't, then THEY can take it up and finish it. :P

I gotta admit though - this is starting to become one heck of a layout for Fireboard, and there's a lot of people that deserve credit for where it's going (and I'm not talking about the contributions I've put into it). I hope people realize that when they start complaining about what the next release can or can't do. :silly:

I better reply to this so i get replies in my email. :)

I just switched from vbulletin/vba cms :X, I have to admit I definitely like the vbulletin layout which is probably why I was looking for the table type layout for categories. vba is amateur at best. Glad I found Joomla!!!!!!!

Hopefully my theme css mods take flight as well. Maybe I will have to get paid for the mods. :unsure:

I need help with moving the template chooser to the bottom of the page as it is here. It is currently appearing on the top of the Forum above the "All Discussion" tab.

Here is the link for inspection. http://www.herdboy.com/index.php?option=com_fireboard&Itemid=105 first: You will have to modify the profilebox plugin to remove all traces of the template chooser.

second: add the code somewhere else, just not sure where.

If you can wait for a bit, I am going to design a template chooser "module" because everyone seems to keep asking about the template chooser.

One will match the one that can be found on this site, the other to match the profile box similar to what you want to do.

Unless of course someone has already designed it, which I don't think anyone has yet.

I would wait till the new version is out before doing anything. It should be out today or tomorrow. Doing this now, you will only have to do it again tomorrow with a new version.

I placed the code where it is now and can change it tomorrow when the new release is out but not before then. Sorry guys

The new template should not affect me making a template chooser module. :) This will help people so they dont have to keep modifying the profilebox.php file every time they add a new template. Just the Module configuration. :)

In addition to the module I will also be working on an auto template chooser, but not giving a time frame for it.

EDIT: Update on module, Since I was not able to get the module working correctly, or playing nice with all my templates I have scrapped that idea.

Well, I've uploaded a BETA version of what I've been working on - it's the exact same version/edition as what is on my site. I was hoping to have been able to "clean" it up a little, but I am going to be pretty busy the next 2-3 weeks now and wouldn't be able to put a ton of time into it like I would want. So - I made it available as is as a "beta1" so that maybe others like Hazzaa and papokergod and whoever else could pick it up and run with it.

I set up the information here and am just waiting for the moderators-slash-powers-that-be see it and approve it for publishing in the Downloads section - so PLEASE don't inundate me with "when will it be available" questions. It's in the hands of the site operators now. ;-)

While I am going to be pretty busy the next few weeks I'll definitely be popping in here and there to see how progress on this "community-built masterpiece" is going - I know that once it's out there some wonderful things are going to happen with it.

See - it starts! :blink: LOL

How about - before we have a ton of people asking for links and trying to work on things that might step on everyone else's work - we wait until the entry in the Downloads section here is activated/published... I'm sure Hazzaa will be posting a comment about what/where he plans to start on the "beta2" edition and get some volunteers to help out with various areas.

I went as far as I can go (for the time being) with what I submitted - I would have done more, but I've got some work that needs to be done and it's going to eat into the time that I would have put into finishing what I started which is why I released it as a beta1. If an organized approach goes forward with what I've released, I'm confident this "beta" could be an RC or stable within a very short period of time.

I think "patience" is gonna be the word of the day. LOL :laugh:

Just hang in there - as soon as the mods here publish it in the D/Ls section you'll ALL have access to it. ;) Meanwhile, I got a couple of deadlines to meet, so I'm out of here for a couple of hours or so... I'll check in later.

I did notice however you still have that gap at the top of the all discussions page. Major_Tom and/or Hazza fixed that but has yet to say what they fixed, just to download hazza's version which fixes that problem. Not sure if its in the profile box or what.

rejuvnet WON'T be posting a link to the download and as he stated, I'll get it loaded on my test server and see where we're at with this beta.

If all works I'll ask a couple of people to work with me on this to get it to beta 2 and then to a full release.

papokergod, I'll ask you to help but I need today to set it up and then send you a link to help test. Once we get majority of issues worked out, we can then release beta2 over here.

Hopefully after beta2 we can then release a stable environment.

GM, if you can, anyone else asking for a link, could/would you please delete the post as it will NOT be given out so there is no sense asking.

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Just wanted to post a quick note explaining why I'd decided to have people wait for the beta1 link submitted here instead of making a general access download link available - hopefully it'll clear things up a little and reduce or eliminate the inevitable link requests.

The beta1 version I'd uploaded here is just that - a BETA. Even though I'd addressed MOST of the issues that had come up in the previous 50-plus page post about Numinu, it's still bound to have several items that have to be fixed or adjusted.

Rather than having 15 different versions of the beta being posted (like we did in the previous thread) I am hoping that an organized approach to moving the file to a RC or Stable state will prevail. Not only will it cut down on the "but this doesn't work, or that doesn't sit right" posts, it'll ensure that what was originally released as an unsupported ALPHA template finds it's way in short order to a Stable release that has a great deal of support.

It's not that anyone wants access to the beta1 version restricted - quite the opposite, since it was already submitted for general access and is only awaiting publication. It would be extremely helpful, and very beneficial, if no one is stepping on anyone else's toes in trying to move this to a stable version.

If I had more time, I would be doing that myself - but I don't, which is why we are where we are today. And I am confident that once the most active people in the two threads on this template sink their teeth into it (in an organized manner) it will quickly move to being a stable version.

Hopefully that clears things up? :)

Matty, you're welcome to come to <http://joomlame.com> to test the new Numinu-Rejuvenated beta.

I will not be giving out any copies till all issues have been resolve. A few people have been working on it today. Much of the css issues have been resolved as well as some added features. rejuvenet has done a great job to kick off this beta version. Thanks buddy ;)

Once we have completed testing with Joomla 1.0.12, we will release the version as a RC1. At this point, we will then load it with some RT templates and make every attempt to make it full compatible. I would test it with YT but unfortunately I don't have an account to test on.

Ok that's the update for today, we will continue further testing tomorrow and Keep every one posted.

Matty, you're welcome to come to <http://joomlame.com> to test the new Numinu-Rejuvenated beta.

I will not be giving out any copies till all issues have been resolve. A few people have been working on it today. Much of the css issues have been resolved as well as some added features. rejuvinet has done a great job to kick off this beta version. Thanks buddy ;)

Once we have completed testing with Joomla 1.0.12, we will release the version as a RC1. At this point, we will then load it with some RT templates and make every attempt to make it full compatible. I would test it with YT but unfortunately I don't have an account to test on.

Ok that's the update for today, we will continue further testing tomorrow and Keep every one posted.

i've checked out the test site.. you guys really did an amazing job with this numinu version, most especially with the categories table. you got it all working. congratulations!

one thing to note though, i've noticed on the test site, vcard is not included. will vcard be an option in RC1?

As soon as we're done debugging this version, I'll load one of the RT template and make those changes. If that helps we can put both versions out in no time. Problem is, people will have to know to edite thier FB files so that it is not effecting the Numinu template. I don't want to have another 500 pages of "How Do I" :woohoo:

You are more than welcome to write up the HOW TO manual LOL.

If you bear with us a few days, We'll have both versions out. It will take more time to write a how to manual than to get it going.

Don't mean to be abrupt guys but we have ONLY had this for less than one day and we will be releasing a stable version with out VCard. If you can't wait 2-3 days to get a stable release of Numinu with the VCard, then I suggest you download the old versions.

Again, sorry for the abruptness but we have put in a lot of dedicated hours to try to release this as quickly as possible for you.

:-) You give, and you give, and you give some more, and it's NEVER enough. LOL Seriously though - Hazzaa's right. I only gave them the beta code to work with less than 24 hours ago and already they've made HUGE strides in moving this to a stable release. My hat's off to them (especially Hazzaa and papokergod - they've logged in a LOT of hours just in the past 24 on bringing this new version to a stable release and are making incredible strides).

Just remember folks - this new release is being given to you FREE on the backs of a handful of people donating their time (and a lot of it - I know just for my part there's over a week's worth of work just in the beta I gave up for additional development/bug-catching). All that's asked in return is a little appreciation - not a demand for a manual. That's what the forums are for. ;)

I would like to add something to this, for those who are going to ask, is this gonna include, how do I, save them till after the new release. The more the "qualified" people who are working on the new release have to come back and answer your threads is extra time that it will take to get this release to be ready for your FREE download.

Something I have not seen addressed yet, and I would love to get solved...

I have GROUPJive on my site. Basically in the "All Discussion" tab all of the posts from private forums is showing up... it somewhat defeats the point of a private forum.

Is there a way to fix this? It is causing some confusion on our site...

you sure thats a problem with the template, or a permissions problem in your fireboard config

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

I don't think ANY template can control whether or not restricted content get shown. That's something on a component/module level one would think-GroupJive and FireBoard and Community Builder. The integration of the three is very poor up to this point. That needs to get taken up with the developers of the add-ons.

Sorry just being a smart butt here.

The thing that MANY of you do not realize is this IS ONLY a template. Templates serve as a graphical interface between YOU (the user) and the programming behind the scene. It won't solve ANY functionality but helps display the functionality.

In close, this is a new version of the Numinu template not FireBoard.

NOPE LOL

The beta has been submitted for the download section as a BETA1
However myself and papokergod have taken the files from rejuvinet and have continued work on it. WE have asked others to come and help find issues but we have ONLY had 1 person come over and give it a test. knightsyde has given us a few things to work on, but those are pretty much complete. In 1 1/2 days, we have put approximately 40 hrs between two of us. We would appreciate others joining in and helping test. NO need to read the 200+ replies as there is NOTHING to learn from them. They are simply discussion between two people at work. One brings up an issue and the other replies "DONE" or WHERE?

If you or anyone else like to help trouble shoot this, please go to <http://joomlame.com> and register, registration is free. We are attempting to put out 2 versions, one with the standard user information and the other with the VCard popup window. Once we get all the issues out of the non-VCard style, we will then implement the VCard style.

Hoping to see you and others there.

This.

This is not a template coding thing. It's a component coding thing.

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by papokergod - 2008/02/07 05:40

he is talking about his own where he has that dreaded groupjive plug in which messed up his forum permissions views. the all discussions is showing threads in private forums. he obviously didnt listen to me nor GM in that it is plugin related and not in the forum files and to disable the group jive to see for himself if he just messed up the permissions in his fireboard permissions config You should be harding the groupjive plug in not the forum files or go oer to groupjive's website and ask them why their plug in broke your forums.

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by loo - 2008/02/07 05:56

Okay, I will try again...

GroupJive asks you to set up a forum, and make it NOT published, then as new groups are made a new forum is made under this non-published forum.

Groups (unpublished)

...test1 (published)

...test2 (published)

...test3 (published)

...test4 (published)

Then GroupJive accesses those forums via its pages... So it does not show up on the "Categories" tab because they are all under an unpublished parent.

So the coolness of Numiu front page is showing those posts that are under the unpublished parent, because it is a simple query. So this is a template issue, but not WRONG issue. So I will ask again. Can someone tell me what page paints this "Discussion" tab, so I can see if there is a hack I can do for my site to keep those posts off this page.

papokergod, I read what you said, the plug in is working just fine, it is the SQL that is pulling this page that needs to be hacked a little to make sure that any posts associated with catid not be shown.

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by Hazzaa - 2008/02/07 08:23

There is one of three reasons this is happening.

- 1) You have your permissions set wrong in your FB config
- 2) You have permissions set wrong in GJ
- 3) GJ is causing this issue.

I have Numinu set on two sites. One is the stable release and one the original Alpha released with a few fixes that can be downloaded from this site in the original Numinu discussion on page (19-23) there are a few of them also posted by major-tom. Go to the first page of this discussions and find 8-10 different versions posted by a few of us.

The final version is ready and will be set for download on my site tomorrow. Currently the download does not contain the VCard as it's not compatible with many of the YT and RT and all the other alphabetT templates. ;)

We will begin work on the VCard version in the next day or so.

As an FYI papokergod and myself have spent almost 60 hours between the two of us in the past 48hrs trying to get this ready as quickly as possible.

Also a special thanks to rejuvenet who spent two weeks getting it from alpha stage to beta for us to work on.

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by papokergod - 2008/02/07 08:48

again this is not a template issue, it is a permissions issue, I just trouble shooted this on my own site, if permissions are set like this:

----- publisher access
----- everybody access
----- everybody access

FIREBOARD will still pull threads from the sub categories. Even if the public access include child is set to no. (bug? maybe. i dont know.) I had to manually set every permission on each child so that FIREBOARD didnt pull the threads from the child forums. If you were to switch to the fireboard default template i would be able to prove to you that the posts (if permissions were set to the publisher, everybody, everybody) however in the category listing (default template and Numinu) the private category would not show up (because its permissions were set up correctly) The all discussions page in numinu is just a tricked out latest posts from underneath the categories listing in the default template.

The only thing that will prevent the private threads from displaying and being able to be clicked is if the permissions were set like this:

----- publisher access
----- publisher access
----- publisher access

if you still do not believe me that this has nothing to do with numinu, i will personally set you up an account on my site to show you that private threads if permissions are set correctly will not show up.

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by loo - 2008/02/07 16:15

Hazza - papokergod I understand what you are telling me, I am telling you that is I did what papokergod is telling me to do, the ONLY people that would access the forum would be ME, and that is not what I want. I want the forums to be accessed via the group area, AND THEY ARE.

The issues is not with the template per say, it is that the SQL that is pulling the discussions tab is pulling everything that is marked as everybody I GET IT... So I will ask for a third time, please, where can I find code that pulls this page. I can fix this by having the SQL that is pulling the messages look something like this...

SELECT * FROM jos_fb_messages m INNER JOIN jos_fb_categories c ON c.catID = m.catID AND c.parentID = 518

for some reason the board is not letting me put the not equal before the 518 so this SQL above is not 100% right

This should at least remove the messages that are in the groupjive area from this page. 518 being the parent to all the groupjive forums.

I love this template, it has increased board use on my site 3 fold... I just want to get these messages that are part of the 518 group off the front page. Trust me, everything is set up right in GroupJive and in FB, I have checked and rechecked.

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by rejuvnet - 2008/02/07 21:36

EDIT: I should mention that as I wrote this a couple of other posts were made that render some of this message moot - but it's still relevant and I'll leave it as is.

Now now guys (especially matty and ragots) - let's not allow this thread degenerate into a mud-slinging free-for-all. That is NOT what all the work that's gone into making the new release is about.

Numinu-Rejuvenated is the product of a LOT of work done by a small group of people (that can be counted on one hand, literally, with a finger or two cut off) over a very short period of time - and one that is being given free of charge. Rather than demanding it, I think a more appropriate course of action would be to appreciate the fact that people are willing to do as much work as they have in their SPARE TIME (Hazzaa and papokergod even put MORE than spare time into it) to give it to you all for free.

Personally, as the guy that spent as much time as I did in bringing around the beta so that Hazzaa and papokergod could run with it, I'm offended that instead of seeing a "Hey, thanks for all the effort" I'm seeing "My life depends on the release of Rejuvenated". We don't HAVE to give you any of this hard work to "save your life" - you could have at the very least said "Thanks for the hard work guys - my life depends on it when it's done".

But NOOOOOO - there's a batch of people here who think it's their God-given right to demand something that turned into quite an amazing project, with no regard for the work that's gone into it behind the scenes. That's not only disrespectful, it's insulting - and you people who have behaved this way should be thankful it was even done at all, and done at no charge to you.

Ragots - I have a question specifically for you, and I ask this with all the respect I can muster: if your "life depends on the release of Rejuvenated", how much work have you done on improving it? How many messages have you posted that THANK the people doing all the work on getting it improved and released? The original Numinu was AN UNSUPPORTED ALPHA release - this new one took a lot of time and effort to move it from unsupported alpha to a stable version that WILL have support. Does your forum trump the appreciation these guys DESERVE for making it a better layout for you in the first place?

I would respectfully suggest that you take this "me first" attitude you have about this release and leave it outside the door - you'll get the finished product (as will everyone else) when it's done, and you'll get it for no cost. The LEAST you could do is say thanks for the effort. The VERY LEAST you could do is appreciate the fact that it's been done at all.

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Tell you what - PM me here with what you need done (if you still need help with it) and I'll see what I can do for you. I'm working on a project on-site for a client this afternoon, but I'll look at it this evening when I return and see what I can do for you, ok?

I wanted to quote every post since this HUBBUB began. SHEESH I leave you guys for a few minutes to get some sleep and look what happens LOL.

For everyone, this was NOT done in anticipation of expecting something in return, it was done because we wanted to do it.

No one asked us to do it, WE OFFERED.

Past few days, we have all worked hard and I'm sure the frustration is currently showing.

RJ, it's your fault for staying up till 6:00 AM getting the final phase done.

Regot, I understood what you meant.

Matty, HIYA BUDDY :woohoo: . I know you meant no ill comments and THANK YOU for your participation in this. You helped us catch those few items that we otherwise would have missed. ALSO it's YOUR own fault for staying up till 4:00AM catching that last little detail for us. (Good catch by the way

PPG, Thanks for ALL YOUR HELP. No words enough to thank you.

Everyone else, this really shouldn't get out of hand, we have made the template available for download as previously mentioned. You want it, go get get.

It is being released as an RC-1. There are a few more features we are adding to it before we call it stable. BUT IT IS AS STABLE AS STABLE IS in Joomla ;))

If you have any one that downloads it, wants any support or feature requests to this template, post them there.

Have a great day every one :woohoo: :laugh:

Hi

Would it be too late to ask a question..?:) Can I?

The fireboard forum(here) version is different(template of Numinu) - is this customised or is it a new version, the folder images / icons (is there a new image set?)are different and there seems to be columns of stats in the middle right of the categories and the categories are not split up --ie together more in like a table format,, is this also customised or is it a newer version, because the download image seems like the old one, thanks

Yes majority of the things here are custom code that won't be put out for download.

The new version we just released has most of the options here as well as many more/different.

You can see an updated version of the "beta" on the Knowledge Base at www.rejuvinet.com - but that's going to be changing over the next 24-36 hours once I've finished what I'm working on and Hazzaa/papokergod finish what they're working on and we can blend everything into one KILLER package.

Another site you can go to is www.joomlame.com which is running the template as an SVN - everything that they're working on is being updated in real-time. I'd suggest going there to be honest, and seeing how much time and effort is going into the site (the posts may get boring after a while, but you SEE the work in progress). You'll also be able to download the latest package from there as well and test it / work it yourself and see what you can add/improve on.

No matter what - the final release is going to be something no one would have expected when Numinu was first released as an Alpha. Not bad for "unsupported". B)

Wonderful job.

Where do I post issues with the rejuvenated template ?

I have a small issue here.

I use the forum with modules on the right. The template act a bit weird with the quote and the code:

you can see it here >> <http://snipr.com/1z9g0>

Again, thank you for your wonderful job.

EDIT: I found a personal temporary fix with the help of Firebug - i'll wait for the Vcard version of Rejuvenated.

find

msgtext
overflow:auto;
width:98%;

change for

msgtext
overflow:visible;
width:98%;

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by Hazzaa - 2008/02/08 19:17

Go to your forum.css and find span.fb_quote add to it, "width: 98%;" (with out the quotes) if that doesn't work go with "width: 450px;" (without the quotes) you may have to adjust this a little up or down but that will work. There are MANY templates these days that are attempting to control the majority of the CSS's and it's not working.

I would appreciate any one needing support on the new release to post them on the other site. Not that I am attempting to take anyone from here but this way we can attempt to stay on top of the fixes for you.

That's being fixed in a new Release Candidate version that's being worked on - an RC2 is available without the vCard, and one with the vCard will be available as soon as we (the developers taking up this project) have a chance to get it done. No real timetable for release on that YET (so please don't ask when it'll be released because we just don't know yet), but there is an RC2 version without vCard available for download on the JoomlaMe forum.

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by ragots - 2008/02/13 04:14

I took the RC2 mentioned above and I went and replaced the message.php file with the one from the original numinu and I got the Vcard to work.

You can see it in action here.

But in Firebug console, there are some javascript errors though but that has nothing to do with that switch I think.

EDIT: the VCard will work only if you don't have any mootools stuff on the same page as the forum. I had to disable a mootools module I had in order to avoid conflicts between the two.

But it works on the test site , the VCard pop up and everything.

I checked it in both Firefox and IE7 - neither shows the vCard at all.

And there is definitely a problem with some scripting (noticed it in IE). I think it may have to do with your upper left-side "page peel" since that didn't want to work properly for me either.

I like the layout though - it's cool. ;)

If you want to remove the tabs option, then just go with the default template and change the css. The WHOLE purpose of Numinu is the ALL DISCUSSIONS tab.

This is like asking someone to do all the work of changing default template to Numinu style then take away the feature you just added :S

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by dre - 2008/02/19 00:26

I'm wondering if there are plans for continued development of the Numinu template outside of the work being done by Hazzaa & rejuvinet? Are the original developers pursuing a separate path?

I think the work by the rejuvenated group is great, but I wonder if there are design elements that may be straying from the original intent. My question is in part based on the template in use for this forum. It seems that this forum is using the Numinu template in a more mature state of development. Will this flavor of Numinu ever be made available?

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by Hazzaa - 2008/02/19 00:32

From our understanding the answer is NO. They specifically state this is an ALPHA release and will NOT be supported.

What exactly are you looking for? If it is the VCARD element, we have disabled this temporarily until we can get the JS issue fixed which seems to create a lot of problems with RT and YT templates. We are redeveloping this and will be released in the near future.

If not, what part of the code do you find missing and what are you looking for?

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by dre - 2008/02/19 00:53

Hi Hazzaa,

Thanks for the quick response. I realize that the original Numinu is an unsupported Alpha release. I haven't read however that the Alpha represents the end of the product development cycle for this template. The alpha designation usually suggests that further development is planned.

The Vcard is one of the features that I would like to see continued. I also like how the original Numinu excluded the profile box from the header. I prefer to keep that within a module on my site template, giving me a touch more control. My question is more general however and related to styling more than code or feature.

I think that some of the unique styling of the Numinu template was lost in your latest iteration of it. Your release seems to be returning to more of a traditional BB look, which may be due to placing the recent discussion tab behind the category tab. I guess its just a matter of style preference.

I'm not even sure who the original developer is. Have you confirmed that they do not intend to further develop Numinu?

Re:Numinu (A New Beginning)

Posted by Hazzaa - 2008/02/19 01:11

Here is a link posted by one of the moderators that specifies it is released as an alpha and unsupported. Original developer is Greatpixels BOJ core development.

http://www.bestofjoomla.com/component/option,com_fireboard/Itemid,38/func,view/id,33218/catid,8/limit,10/limitstart,40/#34272

We went through over 70 pages between two threads to stabilize Numinu to where it is today. As for the profile box, simply go to profilebox.php and remove what you DON'T want. If you are unsure how to do this, let me know and I'll send you a replacement file. The Vcard created way too many problems at this time with the more popular template designers. It was an issue with JQuery. We are redeveloping it with mootools and should be released in the next week or so. As for my asking GreatPixels if he would continue the development, no I haven't but there has been ZERO support since the original release from the BOJ team. All issues have been resolved by a handful of members.

Here is a link to previous releases still in original stats but a bit more stable than the alpha release.

http://www.bestofjoomla.com/component/option,com_fireboard/Itemid,38/func,view/id,42395/catid,8/

We will continue development on this project, and support it at <http://joomlame.com>. However there needs to be 1 Or 2 versions and unfortunately we can't create a version for every preference of every user.

by the looks of the footer from the image its not the new template. its the original numinu from this site.

Try downloading one of the new copies from <http://joomlame.com> , as the original had an extra div tag in the footer html which is causing your template to be broken.

Yes I think you're right, just installed the 'Rejuvenated v 1.0.8 Release Candidate 2' and that has solved the problem!

Thanks guys ;)

Awesome, Thankyou!

However, just tried the 'NVAC' version and I get an error stating;

'pat-Error Could not load templates from header.html.'

I tried the VAD version and it worked fine but without VCard (as expected as using RT Theme), but when I uploaded NVAC I got the fail..

Update

Just uploaded and tried the NVAD version and receive the same error.

All versions have been installed on various templates and have had no issues. I specifically purchased RT templates JUST for testing with this so you have me QUITE puzzled.

There is a thread started on if you could/would post your thoughts on. If you like it, I'll zip it and send it your way via PM at Joomlame Sorry... I didn't mean to be unclear. :(

I've tried both the NVAD and NVAC and they return the error.
I have changed the board back to NVAD so that you see the error.

VAD seems to work fine, no VCard, but I expected that (I blame RT ;))

This way I can make all the changes before too many people have issues. I have already checked them all and they appear to be identical but am wondering if there is a space or something goofing this up.

P.S You're welcome.

I just updated the Header.html on NVAD with the same file from VAD.

I downloaded numinu_rejuvenated_vad as that seemed to be the latest version with V-card enabled. Not sure why the checkboxes are appearing on the All Discussions tab when logged in as Admin. Anyhow, I logged in as a registered user and they aren't there, so that is good. Great work, this version is awesome!

I'm going to go through and make some adjustments so that all the sections validate to XHTML 1.0 Transitional. If you want me to upload the adjusted template on Joomla Me when I'm finished, I'd be happy to do so.

Cheers, Sean

Greetings,

I have searched for what I am about to ask using the forums search feature, but found nothing. After being directed to this thread (thanks GM) I have tried to skim through it to check to see if it was discussed. I didn't find it, but this is a large thread, so I may have overlooked it. If I did, I apologize and hope that someone can point it out to me. Also if this is not the correct place to ask this, please let me know.

First of all thanks for making such a wonderful template available. It really does compliment Fireboard, making such a versatile and powerful message board component even much better. I really love being able to use the All Discussions tab. It gives a quick index to the latests posts which have helped my members incredibly.

However, I have noticed something that I wonder if there is anyway to fix. You know when you create a new forum and you have the Forum Description box where you describe the forum, and then the forum Headers box where you put info that appears at the top when you enter the forum? Well I created a forum and put some info in that box.

Now this information appears fine in other templates. But in the Numinu template, it does not appear.

Is there any way that I may get this information that I put into the Forum Header box to show up as it does in other templates, at the top of the page when you enter the forum?

Also, in another somewhat unrelated question. This might be a template thing, but might only be a voeral forums thing, so I will ask here first. If not, please let me know.

Is there a way that I can make a Topic Description field that can be filled in when you make a topic and appears with each topic made in the topic index? I imagine it would need to call to the database, but I am not sure how to go about doing something like this.

Thanks in advance for all your help and time, and for such amazing software.

Not quite sure I understand. The forum description does appear under each category or are you asking for something else that I'm not understanding?

Can you give a little more detail into what you are looking to do here. If I'm understanding this correctly, then it would be a great idea.

Also please note, I don't come in here very often anymore but I am modifying Numinu to it's fullest exten with additional features and modifications at <http://joomlame.com>.

Thanks for your reply!

I will go ahead and post it here for right now. Later when I get some more time, I will check out the link you gave me. I will go ahead and include some screenshots to hopefully clarify my explanation ;).

http://i81.photobucket.com/albums/j233/lord_mythus/forumheaders.png

Ok the above screenshot shows the process to create a forum in fireboard. Notice right underneath Description is a box entitled Forumheader. I put info into that box to better explain things about the forum that will show up. or should show up at the top of the forum when you enter it.

http://i81.photobucket.com/albums/j233/lord_mythus/furumheadersshown1.png

The above screenshot is taken using the default blue skin in fireboard. I entered the forum I created. Notice at the top the info entered into Forumheader appears.

http://i81.photobucket.com/albums/j233/lord_mythus/nofurumheadersshown.png

The above screenshot was taken using the Numinu theme. I entered the forum I created. Notice that the information I had put into the Forumheader box is not visable.

What I am wanting to do is make that information visable.

Now, onto my idea about Topic descriptions. The following screenshots will be taken from my old invisionfree site, since I had the Topic descriptions field there. I am hoping that it will help clarify what I am talking about.

http://i81.photobucket.com/albums/j233/lord_mythus/topicdescription1.png

http://i81.photobucket.com/albums/j233/lord_mythus/topicdescription2.png

Now, in the first screenshot I created a post. I put a name for the thread in title, and then I put some more information in thread description.

The second screenshot shows the thread in the forum's thread index. You can see the name, and it's description information underneath.

Now what this would be used for is providing more information about the thread before going into the thread. For example, one could create a thread "Numinu and Forum Headers" then in the Topic Description box they could put in a brief summary about the topic, ie "How do I get forum header information to appear using this theme?"

The use? Well people exploring the forum index would see the thread and may not know what it is about just by it's name. However seeing the description would know a little more about the thread. This could help with finding what you were searching for easier.

I run a RP thread, I would use it to put the location of the RP topic in it so that others would know where the topic was transpiring before ever entering it, and thus know if it affects them or not. It is simply something to use for better forum management.

Hazzaa - Shoot them over to me. ;-)

Been busy (actually, REALLY busy) the past couple of months so I lost touch - but I did have a part in where it got to, even if it was a small one. Heck, it's still called "Rejuvenated", isn't it? LOL

With your new Agora forum going (which looks GREAT by the way) I'll make the Numinu Rejuvenated files available for download on my site... I've even been considering renovating it a little for J! 1.5 and the Alpha release of Fireboard for 1.5 (for personal reasons) anyway, so we can help each other out. ;-) You have my email address - shoot them over and I'll satisfy the demand. ;-) @ Everyone: As a general FYI - whatever I do with these files to bring them into the new Fireboard for 1.5 compliance, WILL be done on spare time.... something of which I don't have a lot of at the moment. As of this moment, it's me and me alone trying to bring it to Native standards, so please don't be offended if you don't see immediate responses to requests, or a 1.5 Native version overnight, ok? ;-) Contributors are MORE than welcome (if not downright required, at this point, with the major project I am working on) and will receive every bit of credit they deserve.

@Hazzaa: I like where you're going with JoomlaMe. ;-)
