I think its really dangerous to use this template, because i saw the original design at:
<http://www.churchplantmedia.com/>

Not that I want to get into that here but why don't you take that up with the template authors?

This is a direct rip of our corporate site at <http://www.churchplantmedia.com/> (which originally appeared in April of 2007). Please remove from your site as soon as possible, as it has already been downloaded over 100 times. Thank you.

We have no intention of using others' ideas. This is obvious to everyone from our templates until now. The design of our template is not the same with yours. Perhaps the color of the background is similar (default style) to yours, but final result is totally different. Anyway, for the moment we shall give another option of color to our clients. Thanks.
