

---

Please forgive me!

Posted by SikWilly - 2008/02/22 07:20

---

I am sorry if I am posting this in the wrong forum, but I am unsure where to ask this. If I am in the wrong place, please point me to the appropriate place!

I am the executive director of a nonprofit I created. I am a web designer, but have been spending too much of my time figuring out how to properly implement Fireboards onto our website.

Is there anybody out there willing to assist me in getting the fireboard forums on our site working perfectly? I will not spell out specific problems I am having, lets just say that I know I am not taking advantage of all that FireBoard has to offer.

If you can help, please do so! We are a nonprofit and funds are limited, but if financial reciprication is a necessity, I will see what we can do for you.

Thank you for considering!!!

Will Adams

=====

Re:Please forgive me!

Posted by grumblemarc - 2008/02/22 14:46

---

If you do not spell out what problems you are having how does one know how to help you?

Your site looks pretty tight right now. So someone with a suspicious nature MAY be prone to think that you were just doing a bit of self promotion.

Please list the issues you are having as this is a support forum and not a speculation forum.

=====

Re:Please forgive me!

Posted by SikWilly - 2008/02/22 17:57

---

1. I want to upgrade, but with my lack of knowledge of fireboard, i'm afraid i'll lose something.
2. log-in takes you back to home page.
3. Top forum menu (ForumMy ProfileShow latest postsRulesHelp) has no spaces and is the same color as background.
4. Post Message text box is about 162px x 30 px.

Right now, thats all I can think of.

I wasn't specifically asking for help on these issues. I was wondering if there was somebody that could work closely with me to get the forums working perfectly.

I also am sure there are some cool plug-in/modules that may really help but i really do not have the time to explore these and get them implemented. I am also sure that there are options available to me that I don't know about.

By the way, if I wanted to do a bit of self promoting on environmental issues, why would go to a forum on fixing software issues? I do plenty of promoting in areas that are relevent to the environmental issues we are talking about. I don't need to use "sneaky" tactics to get people to visit the site!

Thanks by the way for visiting!

Also, what do you mean by speculation forum? What are we speculating about?

I do appreciate taking the time to look at the site and respond to my post though.

Again, since I wasn't clear enough in my first post, I am just looking for someone who is interested in helping me tweak the forums. I never asked for anybody to look over my site and try and discover the problems I'm having (I know most of those!)

---

Please don't reply to fixes for the above problems, I can do searches on the forums for that. Hence the reason I did not post them in the first place, but since you asked...

Will

=====