Please do not post off topic items in this post. If you aren't posting here to list a compatible 1.0.3 template you need to post in the appropriate forum. All other posts will be deleted.

Hi,

I was a little surprised that when I tried to use the dark_blue template that the zip contains the wrong image folder. The image folder contains the images for the FireBoard default template and not the one for the dark_blue template. Is there an updated download somewhere.

Thanks.

Bill

Nope. This was never reported to me. Easy enough to make your own though.

Wow, you're fast. I thought of doing that, and I downloaded another color of you template zips in case they had the correct graphics just with the wrong color, so I could update just the color in those, but they too had the default graphics in them. I'm not very good with graphics and was hoping I could find the image folder to download somewhere.

BTW, thanks for your work on these templates, it really helps for us people that are graphically challenged.

Thanks.

Bill

Thanks. I never thought of those because I never used the template chooser.

Ahhh, that makes sense. Well if you can get a minute to zip up the image folder for one of your templates(blue preferred) it would be greatly appreciated!

Thanks.
