
Latest Posts Modul for J1.5 & FB1.04

Posted by sniper_david - 2008/02/09 02:08

Hoi,

after my first experiences with php
see last topic and a migration from Joomla1.0.xx to 1.5
I have to write a new simpel modul.

It's basic and easy.

In the admin backend you can set :

- The number of the items to display.
- your language from a dropdown list

Download and test it ;-)
visit my site for a demo

And give me a response if you like it :-)

I went to your site but can nothing to see, can;t understand the site for instructions and as for demo, you have not supplied a username/password to test anything. Sorry, it may be a great option but can't say for sure.

I see the latest post at the top of the page. What I would like to see is a latest post with several tabs that doesn't distort my site layout.

I would also like to see the module refresh frequently.

Hey, this is great man been looking for one for J1.5

The older one for J1.0 does not work with Joomla's Mod_rewrite. The only thing is this module seems to be a bit messy, could you get it to the same sort of layout at the J1.0 version?

Thanks and I hope you continue to work on this module.

From time to time i work further on this modul ;-)
I do't know what the look is like of the J1.0 modul.

For me it's functional.
Templating of the modul is the next step ;-)
Don't forget i'm a totally noob in php,...

Example :

www.huxley-evolved.com

If you can get it to look like that latest post module.

@Element926 i send you a private message :-)

I tried to post the code with the code function . But it don't work.
The HTML-tags are filtered out.

Thanks, I tried it but I got an error.

Think you could upload the exact file your using, maybe I missed a line or something.

@element926
sorry, in the pms the html-tags are also filtered out :-)

But a solution is underway

A new version of the modul is ready for downloading.

Thanks to Element for the ideas ;-)

In this version:

- 2 templates (Vertical, Horizontal)
- Set a link to the userprofil yes/no
- CSS Sufix Class (not tested) The 2 templates don't use it

I am sorry if I sound dumb here... but I am. :)

Anyhow, I am new to joomla and this software. Is there a way to manually add this module. I tried using the upload the zip method and it gives me this error:

ERROR: Could not find a Joomla! XML setup file in the package.

I have been able to install many other modules though. Thanks in advance.

Sorry,for the problems.

You can download the new version and the next fixed versions on the "Joomla Extension Directory"

I am writing a new modul for fireboard a demo of the avatar scroller can you see on www.computer-team.info

In the backend you can set the following things :

- scroll from left right, up down
- wight an hight of the layer . So you can make a big horizontal or vertical scroller.
- scroller speed.
- how many avatars you wil see
- (some sql filters like, most posters, new users,...)

I hope it is ready in a few weeks :ohmy:

Hi , just downloaded the .zip from Joomla Extensions (as per above).
But when I use the normal File/Upload in Module Installer for J1.5, it comes up with ERROR: Could not find a Joomla! XML setup file in the package. Why is this ??? Is this not the right way to install a module in J1.5 ??? I get this with alot of other Modules and Components that I try and install. But some work pefectly fine ... :(

You are the first with a instal problem.

I don't now where the problem is.
But when you have the same problems with other modules and components, you have perhaps some permission problems on your webspace ???

Sometime when i install some modules on my home-server i have to change the owner of some files.

@jerry
can i have some more information (howto or some docs)
to suffix urls in #$.id

I'm a verry newbie in php,...

hi,

a little problem :

in the back end of fireboard you can set id of the forum for latest post display, useful for private forum...

but this module "mod_fb_latestposts" don't use this set !

can you fix this ?

thanks ;)
