how can I integrate googleads inside the first post?

First of all thanks for the component which is really the "BEST OF JOOMLA!"

my question is that how can I integrate the google ads inside the first posts of each thread? or are there any easy way to put some ads somewhere in the forum? Thanks very much

Ok I added new module positions for next release.

Can you see bottom of the first message has a module.

i added 4 module positions.

fb_msg_t

fb_msg_1 -- this is for after first post

fb_msg_2 -- this is for after second post

fb_msg_b

Begin moderator edit.

As you can see this thread is VERY old. It is NO LONGER NECESSARY TO MODIFY ANY CODE!!! Go to your joomla admin template module positions.

Add

fb_msg_t

fb_msg_1

fb_msg_2

fb_msg_b

Then assign your joomla modules .

THAT'S IT!!! Read the remainder of this thread and risk confusing yourself.

End moderator edit.

-----
message.php

Add this code

---

BEFORE

-----
// Legend to the variables used
// -----

AND

view.php

Find "$k=0;" on view.php add after "$mmm = 0;"

$k=0;
$mmm = 0;
```

Find "$k = 1 - $k;" on view.php add after "$mmm ++;"

$k = 1 - $k;
$mmm ++;
```

AND LAST STEP:

Go to your joomla admin template module positions.

Add

```
fb_msg_t
fb_msg_1
fb_msg_2
fb_msg_b

Then assign your joomla modules .

I hope you will like it :)

I've been looking for this a long time. Great! :)

Only one problem. I can't get it to work...

I use default_gray template and inside that folder there are no message.php or view.php so I just assumed I should use the ones in the default folder, but no luck after adding the code. No ads displayed... :(

I have assigne modules positions and published them, nothing.

What am I doing wrong?? :unsure:

Tested the other module positions now and fb_msg_t and fb_msg_b are working but they display the ad after every post. fb_msg_1 is the one that should display one ad after the very first post, right? But this is not working on my site. Not fb_msg_2 either...

Got it now :)

There were a typo in the code.

Look for fb_msg1 and fb_msg2, should be fb_msg_1 and fb_msg_2.

Working just excellent! B)

I noticed on this site, the area of space for showing the google ads is almost twice as big as the ads themselves, is it possible to minimise the vertical space of the module ?

hey guys. I am very proud of my fellow countrymen on this team and everyone else for their excellent job!

I have sucessfully implemented google ads; however, I was wondering about centering the ads. I am not very CSS savvy and was wondering how I can center my ads instead of having them left aligned?

Secondly, is there a way to have google ads looking like a forum category in the board index? It would be an additional row under the last forum subject under a category?

New release has that features. You don't need to edit your original files.

You can assign all joomla module in fireboard.
Go to your joomla admin template module positions.

Add

fb_msg_t - After All Message Top

fb_msg_1 - After First Message

fb_msg_2 - After second Message

fb_msg_b - After All Message Bottom

Than assign your joomla modules .

I will add more module positions later. If you have an idea for new module position(where you need? - with screen shots), please tell me.

I would like help, if possible, to take this one step further. I know its possible to create a module that is "Public Only" using:

But I think it would be neat if we could hide the ads modules from a specific Joomla or FireBoard user group. e.g. Members who have donated to the site. Just an idea.

The module positions are set from your Joomla! admin backend. Go to Site and template manager and there you should see the module positions add the four module position names there and you are done :)

Copied the code as mentioned and used `joomlaspan` to implement the add to the module possision.

Can anyone help me plz

<http://www.zeroseconds.no/bilder/error.jpg>

I'm no pro but it looks to me like the add is placed in a "columb" to the left for the board. So insted of pushing the add down so the add becomes in between. The add just push the board to the right. So I come to think this has something to

I noticed two different ID numbers on the forum page when accessed these two different ways. and I am not sure if this is the problem, and if so, how to go about making an adjustment.

I implemented Adsense into my forum by SIMPLY adding the proper module positions into Joomla and then installing the Medspan Google Ads 2.0 module. It's an older module but still works. I originally got it from JoomlaHacks but any adsense module should work.

Once I published it it worked flawlessly! No files to hack! You can see it working on a forum I am just starting to put together here.

Edit:I see this is for version 1.0.0. Not sure if the above is valid in that version since what I have was done on 1.0.1.

Copied a version of joomlaspan, activated the module. Tried to get it to publish under any of the 4 above module positions, and nothing shows up. Go to your Joomla admin template module positions.

Add

fb_msg_t - After All Message Top

fb_msg_2 - After second Message

fb_msg_b - After All Message Bottom

If there is no module position in the template for that you have to hack the template to include it.

I don't think you can have all those options going at once. One-it looks really bad. 2-there is bound to be some "overlap".

fb_msg_t - After All Message Top: (Banner is All over Each Msg except the top)

fb_msg_1 - After First Message: (Works)

fb_msg_2 - After second Message: (Works)

fb_msg_b - After All Message Bottom: (Banner is All over Each Msg except the Bottom)

Enabling all of these or even some of these haphazardly will probably result in what is happening on your site. Some double up and some even cancel each other out apparently when you enable ALL of them. I don't have time to check ALL possible configs but the one I know works is after first message and the bottom position. If you have to have them all I suggest you get cracking on modifying some code! I don't even know if this works on the new Numinu template.

What ever you hacked, unhack it.

Follow these directions.

You can assign any Joomla module in Fireboard. In this case an Google Adsense module.
Go to your Joomla admin template module positions.

Add

fb_msg_t - After All Message Top

fb_msg_1 - After First Message

fb_msg_2 - After second Message

fb_msg_b - After All Message Bottom

You don't have to hack any files. That was for the older versions of Fireboard. Add the modules positions and publish your Adsense module to one. That simple.

Hello,

Sorry but I have tried doing this but I think I'm getting your instructions wrong.

When you mean admin module positions, do you mean, login to backend, go to site> template manager> module positions???

I think i'm getting this wrong because it doesn't work...

I added all these in module position...

fb_msg_t - After All Message Top

fb_msg_1 - After First Message

fb_msg_2 - After second Message

---

fb_msg_b - After All Message Bottom

and I don't see anything? Please help!

I am using the latest fireboard 1.0.4... sorry for asking this but I really don't understand where to add those codes.

HAHAHA... thank you... I'm sooo sorry for asking... I kept looking at the module positions for the template... you know top, user 1, user 2, and etc. I didn't realize that I had to create a module then choose the position. I tried looking for the module position as whole without even creating a new module...

Sorry for the trouble!!!

Hi,

I read every single page on this thread and my ads still do not work. I am using joomla 1.5 so there is no Template Manager >> Module Positions.

I am also using FB 1.0.4 which is suppose to (and it does from what i see in the message.php code) have the hack already done.

I Have gone about it this way:

1. I created a banner module in module manager
2. I typed (under position) fb_msg_1
3. I chose the client i need to publish in ther and clicked SAVE.

No Result.

I am using the default template for FB. Could anyone please give me some direction with this... I spent the last 5 days trying to get this done and it will not work. Is this banner on forums thing only working on previous joomla versions (before 1.5)?

I am sorry if I am anoying with my ignorance... but I am really strugling and I have tried to follow the fost and not bother - unfortunately no results..:(

"I am using Joomla 1.5 so there is no Template Manager >> Module Positions."

Then you cannot implement ads. You need to be able to add module positions.

But 5 days?!!!! If you had searched the Joomla forums (since this is a Joomla task and not a FireBoard one) you would have learned, like I did, how to accomplish the task of adding module positions.

Thank you so much for the reply. I did figure out how to add module positions but only for Joomla pages. As in I can put a position anywhere on your article pages or something like that. Not sure how to go about it inserting it into the actual posts... Do I edit the FB template xml file and specify where they go and then publish some ads to them?

Thanks so much for all the help....

P.S. - Five days as in a few hours there and there in between work...:) not 24 hr a day...:)

I am also having great difficulty with this. It should be very simple but I cannot get it to work.

1. I copied an existing Google module
2. Changed the position to fb_msg_1

Ensured the module is enabled and I thought it should work. However, nothing.

Any advise?

I am using Joomla 1.5

I am now even more confused. My understanding - on reading this thread is that FB will display the contents of a modules using the positions defined (fb_msg_n)

I also believe this should work for version 1.5 of Joomla - Am I right so far?

The upshot of this being that FB will display whatever is the the Joomla module position.

This is great.

I've just implemented it in ten minutes without problem. I initially tried to do it using the modphp module but it gave me a 404 error, so I went and got the joomlaspan module and it worked a treat. I did however notice that the alternative ad section will not let you leave it blank.

Can I ask how, I'd like to maybe put adsense on the page that has all forums listed. Would that be easy to do?

Thanks for a great hack guys.

I guess the forum used here is J1.5 and googleads are displayed well after every first post.

I tried the methods discussed here with no luck. Do any one have a better solution.

This is what I did

1. Added 4 new module positions with names fb_msg_1, ... etc in templatedetails.xml found in site templates folder.
2. Assigned google_adsense_clicksafe module to fb_msg_1 position and menu assignment to All.
3. Published(enabled) the module, but dosen't show up in forum for any topic/posting.
4. I tried assigning the module to other positions like banner, it displayed well at other positions, but not fb_msg_1/2/t/b of forum.

Can someone help with this. Even after so much discussion here, still there are issues unresolved I guess. Correct me I am wrong.
