
Fantasy Theme

Posted by hypnotoad - 2007/05/03 22:14

After there just appeared a great "dark" theme... what about a "Fantasy" themed one? I think a lot of sites would benefit from it, because all the new themes look too modern for that... think in terms of Medieval, Middle Ages, Lord of the Rings etc.

I can lend a helping hand wherever possible, but I'm not a good designer.

=====

Re:Fantasy Theme

Posted by Syrinx - 2007/05/04 02:27

Kinda like this:

http://www.roundtable-bretonnia.org/index.php?option=com_joomlboard&Itemid=87

=====

Re:Fantasy Theme

Posted by hypnotoad - 2007/05/04 06:16

Well yes, that's my site ;)

I have put some effort into fitting everything into the Joomla theme, but when it comes to all the icons and buttons, they just don't fit...

=====

Re:Fantasy Theme

Posted by Syrinx - 2007/05/04 07:01

hypnotoad wrote:

Well yes, that's my site ;)

ROFL!

I didn't know it was yours - seriously. I saw it awhile back and made note of it. Great looking site toad!

=====

Re:Fantasy Theme

Posted by hypnotoad - 2007/05/04 08:57

Thanks a lot - that's quite a compliment if people not into Warhammer really notice it!

Still, the Forum has always been a little provisional, and it will look even more out of place when updating to Fireboard. It would be great to get some Fantasy stiled icons and Buttons. I found some great icons here, but unfortunately they're not free (neither as in Beer, nor in Speech).

=====

Re:Fantasy Theme

Posted by Syrinx - 2007/05/04 17:11

Actually I've been into fantasy/sci-fi RPG's and wargaming since the 1970's, though I haven't played in some time. I did play Warhammer on a couple of occasions but never got too involved with it.

