I did search the forum, that's why I said "Still forgot", because I still cannot find the link in frontend or backend.

Like in v1.0.0, I can go to the announcement panel by typing the URL directly.
But I still can not save my announcement, nothing happen after clicked the "Save".

P.S. Announcement, not sticky.

I updated SVN now.

I changed components/com_fireboard/template/default/plugin/profilebox/profilebox.php
and
I add _ANN_ANNOUNCEMENTS string for announcement

administrator/components/com_fireboard/language/english.php

I attached fixed files ;) http://www.bestofjoomla.com/components/com\_fireboard/uploaded/files/announcementlink.zip

I got:

components/com_fireboard/template/default/plugin/profilebox/profilebox.php
administrator/components/com_fireboard/language/english.php

from SVN and link is working, however, clicking save does not save anything. Using local test server (JSAS/Windows) -- checked permissions, look ok. Will try later on live linux server after local testing is complete.

I have the same issue... Not saving the announcement.

Also when you get down to the message view level the profile box text is centering.

Can you try to install fresh fireboard 1.0.1 beta than test please.

Because I tested several times it was working good. I couldn't find any problem.

I don't understand. I did the same thing and it works using the SVN files. But I thought I had the latest SVN file before. Obviously the god of PHP is not smiling:woohoo:

Well my advice is to not use my suggestion above. Seems to generate too many problems.

Oppps... It caused unlimited looping and created 20 blank announcement entries in the database

Downloaded SVN, but still cannot save.

I have managed to get this to install with the revised codes, and can save my announcements. I have two there that are set to "published" but it only shows the one... is this correct or should they both show?

Cheers

i also have the same problem with looping..

you can't delete the empty announcements..

this error pops up "The page isn't redirecting properly"..

Works ok now!

Just another problem:

In Profilebox it still shows "_ANN_ANNOUNCEMENT" and seems to be "untranslated" in English.PHP, but it is!

Cleaned the cache etc. - does not work. Still shows the PHP-definition instead of the translation !?

1)Upload attached announcement.zip and extract it.

2) Then replace announcement.php

com_fireboard/template/default/plugin/announcement/announcement.php

I'm just gonna throw this out there... but somehow there are several "newbies" who dont really know what's going on I'd advise READING the thread and searching for results prior to posting a ton of the same questions everyone before you has posted...

I just read this thread and there are several files to download... I'm not sure how you could miss them they are BRIGHT ORANGE

Sorry i dont mean to be mean or rude...but how can the people who do know help people when so many people dont try to find the answers for themselves first...and just boggle down the forum with more of the same questions...

PS-- is there anyway to get fixes, or patches...posted somewhere in a special forum so new people could check there first for fixes...since they can't read well...??

hmm i checked all the pages..but still not very clear..its also not to clear if 1.0.1 refers to the latest beta version or the nightly build version...or if solutions can be for both versions..

Are there no moderators, or administrators on here!!?? Multiple people are struggling (including myself) to make sense of this topic. Is this the nightly build or the updated build? How can we fix this??

I was super pumped to find out about this add on, as it is or appeared to be the best option out there...but it is slowly...losing it's glow...hopefully the new version will fix the majority of the issues people have and you wont have to download 13 different patch files...without knowing what goes where, or what's changing what or why...

Can I get an AMEN!!??!!??
